Women who have attended The Gift describe their experience:

"The Gift allows me to rediscover my compassion, humility and connection; I have learned that to grow personally I can use the sacred space of The Gift to explore my insecurities and beliefs, to look into my dark corners even the ones I'm not proud of; to tackle the gnarly bits. Before my journey in The Gift space, I had lost sight of the beauty of being a woman. In giving this to myself I return closer to the woman I want to be."

"With all that is happening in the world, I get how important it is for me to keep revealing all that I am, and living my life to the full. This space continually allows me to peel away my limiting beliefs and connects me back to my feminine power and voice; making a real difference in my life. I love the sacredness of the transformation of the weekend and come home feeling connected to myself and others; my heart full of love and compassion."
